WITH THE POLICE

News and Notes Picked Up at the Station in the Last 24 Hours

Business in police circles still continues to be good and it is evident by the way the month of February is starting in that the officers will not have such a quiet month as they did in January. The police slate this morning contained the names of four lodgers, 3 drunks, one for assault and one holdover, the latter being the young fellow who is out of his head. The drunks were Abram Manson picked up on Jones' wharf by officer Hurley; Frank Gray arrested on Congress street by officer Shannon and J. H. Leonard, a traveling advertising agent, brought in from the depot by officer Hurley. Officer Anderson arrested James Marvin in his home on Charles street for assaulting his boy.

Did He or Did He Not?

Gideon Stevens tells the following electric railroad anecdote in the Portland Express:

I was on a Stroudwater car the other night and was somewhat amused by the following dialogue, conducted with a slight degree of heat.

Conductor (to man next to me): "Have you paid your fare?"

"You ought to know."

"Oh, I just wanted to be sure," and the conductor retired to the rear platform. The car progressed seven or eight blocks and the man got up to go out. When he reached the platform I heard the following:

Man (to conductor): "Did you ring up my fare?"

"Why, yes, Why?"

"Oh, I just wanted to be sure," and the passenger alighted.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

Woman wouldn't be near so much of a curiosity if she didn't have any.

No man can keep a secret when he's in love and no woman can keep a secret when she isn't.

Probably women like cats because they always act so unhappy when it's raining outdoors.

Most men would rather be held up by a footpad for all they've got than to hold up a baby for five minutes.

No girl has any idea how much she cares for a man till she begins to have an idea how little he cares for her.

A woman is a tractive in much the same way as the North Pole is. When you know all about it, you have discovered that there was nothing there.—New York Press.

Side Tracked

A complete new outfit of stage effects and picturesque scenery is used this season, including the great railroad switch scene, with its manipulations of the signal switch system, and the transferring of freight cars, making them true to the title, "Side Tracked."

Among the well-known members of the company are our old favorites, E. H. O'Connor, Billy Bowers, Daisy Chaplin, Martha Wood, Verona Clito, Amy Paige, James Wall, Louis Leon Hall, John Dobbins, Edgar R. Vance and J. J. Brophy.

For a good, enjoyable evening's entertainment, witness "Side-Tracked" at Music hall Wednesday evening.

Keep in the Middle of Road

Portsmouth, N. H., Feb. 7, 1898

Editor HERALD:—I see there is some opposition to the electric road being built through Middle street, but I understand this objection is the result of the intention of the company to construct the road on one side of the street. I signed the petition for that reason, but if the road should be laid in the middle of the street I think there would be no objection.

MIDDLE STREET.

Ordered to Washington on Special Duty.

Commodore George C. Remey, U. S. N., commandant of the navy yard, was ordered to Washington yesterday afternoon as senior member of a court martial. He left this morning to assume the duty. During the absence of Commodore Remey Commander A. S. Snow, U. S. N., is acting commandant.

New Steamboat Sagamore

A model of the Wentworth House new steamer the "Sagamore" is on exhibition at the Rockingham and has attracted much attention and the fine lines promise a very speedy vessel. The steamboat men predict a fine sea boat.

W. C. T. U.

There will be a meeting of the W. C. T. U. Wednesday at 3 p. m. in the parlor of the Court street church. This will be a recognition service for new members and all who joined when Mrs. Conklin was here are requested to be present.

CITY BRIEFS.

A rehearsal of the P. A. C. double quintette will be held this evening at the club house.

The prevailing warm weather has decreased the number of lodgers at the police station.

Miss Sadie E. Dickey has been engaged as soloist in the animated soap ghost at the P. A. C. minstrel show.

Sheriff Parker of Dover was in town yesterday summoning witnesses in the Jones poisoning case that opens in that city today.

The Boston and Maine train dispatchers are still making Portsmouth their headquarters and will remain here several days longer.

W. E. Paul bought the entire stock of plumbing goods in the store recently occupied by Elmer Eaton yesterday at the sheriff's sale.

Landlord Campbell of the New Marlboro is making great preparations for the coming supper of the Bear Senate, K. A. E. O. on Friday evening next.

A number of small boys have already been engaged to stand in line all night tonight in front of Music hall in order to get first choice of seats for the minstrel show.

Several local members will attend the reunion and banquet of the Sphinx Senior society of Dartmouth college, which will be held in Boston, Monday evening, Feb. 21.

The plan of seats for the P. A. C. minstrels will be transferred to Grace's at ten o'clock tomorrow forenoon on or near that time as the rush for seats at the box office will permit.

The city ash collectors are finding a large amount of ashes to pick up about town, the same having accummulated during the big storm when no collections could be made.

The board of registrars of voters held their second session yesterday but added only a few names to the checklist. Business will not be brisk with the board until the last few sessions.

Seats for the second performance of the P. A. C. minstrels go on sale tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock at the store of Hon. Horace Mitchell, Kittery Point, and at Putnam's, York Harbor.

The terpsichorean specialty by Miss Julia Dearborn Moses will be a particularly strong feature of the vaudeville olio of the P. A. C. minstrels Monday and Tuesday evenings, Feb. 14 and 15.

New Hampshire Delegation Working

Atherton, the Boston Record's Washington correspondent has a column article in last evening's paper on the dry dock in which he makes the following reference to this naval station; The New Hampshire delegation are leaving no stone unturned in behalf of the Kittery yard. This attitude hampers New England's prospects anyway, with two sections clamoring for recognition, although Gov. Long has suggested a happy settlement of this difficulty by accommodating both Charlestown and Kittery by giving both additional dry dock facilities, which will doubtless be the ultimate outcome.

Chairman Boutelle of Maine, however, is understood to favor holding the whole matters of dry docks in abeyance until the regular bill is disposed of. He is of course interested in Kittery's project, and will, with Speaker Reed, Chairman Dingley and others, whose influence is admittedly very potent in these matters, do all he can for Maine's yard. Senator Hale of Maine is chairman of the committee in the senate, which puts Kittery in a commanding position as will be readily seen.

To offset this, however, we have Gov. Long, secretary of the navy, on our side, which so far as influence goes, makes this phase of the question about even, at present. It seems to be, with Boston and Kittery, a case of nip and tuck, and a little in favor of nip. The final result will be that both will receive additional facilities. Just when, nobody can tell, until the atmosphere clears a bit."

Rockingham Insurance Company

At the annual meeting of the Rockingham Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Company Monday, the following directors were elected: John S. Hobbs of North Hampton, Harrison G. Burley of Newmarket, Josiah J. Folsom of Exeter, Joseph R. Webster of East Kingston and Harrison Rowe of Kensington.

Judge Page has kindly consented to give an exhibition of his gramaphone for the benefit of the Woman's Exchange on Thursday evening, Feb. 10th, at their room, No. 52 State street, commencing at quarter before eight o'clock. Admission ten cents. The public are cordially invited.

NEVER TRUST A FRIEND

Your Mother is the Only Friend You Have

After writing the above words William M. Parker, a clothing clerk employed in Lothrops and Farnham's clothing store in Dover, cut his throat from ear to ear and then laid down and died.

The suicide was a popular young man. He was under the care of a physician and is supposed to have committed the act while temporarily insane. Mr. Parker called at Mr. Littlefield's about 2 o'clock Monday afternoon and during the absence of the proprietor went to the cupboard and got a razor. He then repaired to his room, where his dead body was discovered about 4.50 o'clock, and Coroner John R. Ham notified. The throat was cut from ear to ear. The coroner pronounced the cause of death suicide, and deemed an inquest unnecessary. The coroner says the cut in the neck was the wickedest he ever saw.

When found the body was cold, the head resting under the dressing case, and by its side lay the razor. Mr. Parker belongs to a highly respected family.

The following note was found near the body: "Some people will suffer for this. You can never trust a friend. There is no such a thing. Your mother is your only friend and I ought to die.

River and Harbor

Schooner Mary Palmer finished discharging yesterday and this morning cleared for Newport News to load coal again for this port.

Schooner E. G. Willard arrived this morning from Raritan River with a cargo of clay for the Boston and Maine railroad.

The steamer Reading finished discharging this morning and went below, the Mayer taking her place in the pocket.

The Lancaster was still in the lower harbor at noontime but will probably be docked sometime before night at Walker's lower pocket.

The river is still so ice full of ice and in some of the coves along the water front it is impossible to force a small boat.

The schooner Annie F. Conlon was reported as passing through Hell Gate Sunday bound for Boston.

Water Wasted

There is more water used at this time of year and during such weather, than at any other time. That seems odd at first, but it is really very simple. There are faucets kept running in order to prevent their freezing. It would cost considerable to put all the pipes which are used in tenements inside out of the weather and even then there would be more or less freezing.

Rockingham Insurance Company

At the annual meeting of the Rockingham Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Company Monday, the following directors were elected: John S. Hobbs of North Hampton, Harrison G. Burley of Newmarket, Josiah J. Folsom of Exeter, Joseph R. Webster of East Kingston and Harrison Rowe of Kensington.

Internal Revenue Receipts.

The internal revenue receipts for the month of January, covering the districts of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont was $75,109 97. This is an increase of $6084 30 over the preceding month, and is the second monthly report sent in to the treasury department so far by the new collector, Col. James A. Wood.

May be Postponed

It is said that Newburyport may not be able to hold her invitation meet on Friday the 12th. We understand that none of the schools invited, except Dummer, accepted the invitation. If the meet falls through Dummer will try to arrange for a dual meet with Newburyport some time during the present month.

THE HERALD'S IDLER

Dangers of Hypnotism in Portsmouth Among Men of Trust

The subject of hypnotism which is now shaking Greater New York, has never received much attention in this city, not as much attention as it should, it seems, for who can foresee the result s if the strange influences were allowed to run riot in our midst? The news that a New York bank cashier had allowed himself to be hypnotized into lending about $395,000 upon a lot of worthless paper, has caused deep thinking among the practical minded all over the country. The possibilities of hypnotism showed itself to them very plainly. What if our own bank presidents and men of wealth and trust were to fall victims of the strange sleep and part with the cash held in trust by them or their own money? When these men realize the situation or understand more of the counterfeit nocturnal pastime, they will at once have themselves examined by a bump expert or physician for green spots on the eye or soft surfaces in the brainpan.

* * *

Hypnotism is scientifically defined as a form of sleep or somnambulism brought on by artificial means in which there is an unusual suspension of some powers and an unusual activity of others. It is induced by an action upon the nerves through the medium of the senses, as in persons of very feeble organization by steadily gazing at a very bright object held before the eyes or by pressure upon certain points on the surface of the body. The operator presses the button of the thinking apparatus of the subject and the latter does the rest. Among the pugilistic fraternity the condition has long been known. A violent pressure on the solar plexus will produce it. The suspended condition of the general physical abilities does not interfere with the unusual activity of speech or special dictation at the ringside. Among some of the rural residents the bright object held before the eyes needed nothing more than a shining gold brick. But the mysterious "funny feeling o'er the system stealing" seems to be unlimited to any particular caste.

* * *

Just think of the president of one of Savings institution delivering over to some artful hypnotist about $500.000 for a block of stock in "The Great Bay Individual Ownership Dry Dock company (limited.) Such a thing would probably shake the bank to an extent that would cause the cracking of the sidewalk stones to the North church.

Imagine the respected leading official of the Rockingham National bank giving the glad hand to the man with shares in "The Piscataqua Confidence Submarine Trolley Transportation company, capital stock, $2,000,000. The strong iron bars on the window of his private office, put on shortly after the Stickney murder in Somersworth, would not hold the good old gentleman from jumping into the street, when removed from the trance.

The old semi-circular doors on the bank building would reverse in shape and swing on their hinges out instead of in.

* * *

Supposing our unconfirmed postmaster should fall a victim to the influence to the weird art of made-to-order dreams and daylight nightmares? If, after rubbing the brow unscarred by the Bull Run battle and pressing the flowing whiskers, the profound slumber were produced by the mesmerist artist on the old veteran, what might occur? Conceive of his unloading a campaign fund or the stamps in the government building for a controlling interest in a "corporation for the manufacture of perpetual motion engines, patent applied for by the proprietor of a suburban toll bridge." It would be the last straw to snap asunder a vigorous republican vertebra when reason again held sway. Death would soon claim what many have considered an easy mark, and the golden gates would open for one who on earth opposed the methods of the gang that St Peter described as having never seen "the like of since the day he was crucified."

* * *

It will be learned on consideration, that the dangers of our modern civilization are many. When we stop to think, according to the "Padd'nhead Wilson calendar," that mushrooms were formerly toadstools and cauliflowers are cabbages with a college education, and that the arts of black origin have more than kept pace with all others, always riding the latest model with limit gear, no surprise should be caused by the exhibition of development of this unseen and subtle power. Keep your eyes on the man who tries to make funny passes with his hands across your face and keep your bumps of resistance in working order by the application of powerful stimulants. SHAW.

No one would ever be bothered with constipation if everyone knew how naturally and quickly Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the stomach and bowels.

The Line-Up for Horribles

The costumes from Boston secured by the employes of the Portsmouth, Kittery and York electric railroad arrived here this afternoon and may be found for the remainder of the day at Peirce hall and this evening at the Kearsarge house. The employes have endeavored to have the greatest variety of make-ups ever seen in the city and the indications are that they will not be disappointed.

Runaway at The Depot.

A horse belonging to a Newington farmer ran away at the depot about eleven o'clock this forenoon and before he was stopped he cleared himself from the sleigh, breaking both shafts. The driver was thrown out but luckily escaped any serious injury. The damaged sleigh was tied behind a milk wagon and dragged home in this manner.

Captain Robeson's Request Denied

A special in last evening's New York Herald states that Captain H. B. Robeson's request for another examination will be denied. Secretary Long has asked him to present a statement as to why he should be allowed another board. The retirement of Captain Robeson makes Captain Schley a commodore and also promotes Captain Silas Casey.

Little Girl the Victim of Impure Blood—Suffered Intensely Until Hood's Sarsaparilla Cured.

"When three months old, my little daughter had eruptions on her face. I was obliged to keep her hands tied at night and it was necessary to watch her during the day. She would scratch herself whenever she got the chance, until her clothes would be covered with blood. We concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, because I had great faith in it, and after awhile we could see that she was getting better. People often asked 'How did that child burn her face?' and they said she would certainly be left with scars, but she was not. It is now a year since she was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla and her face is as smooth and white and soft as that of any child." MRS. WILBUR WELLS, Warren, Conn.

PAT AND THE ADMIRAL.

A Smoke Which Did Not Get the Laborer Into Trouble.

A strict rule promulgated by every successive commandant at the navy yard prohibits smoking on Mare island under the most stringent penalties. Admiral Miller sauntering one afternoon through a distant part of the island, came upon an Irish laborer digging a trench and smoking a short black pipe. He was puffing away serenely, unconscious of regulations and with evident enjoyment. The admiral who was in undress uniform, stopped.

"Don't you know, sir, that smoking is absolutely prohibited in the navy yard?" he said.

The Irishman looked up and, with a kindly smile, answered:

"Indade that's thrue, but here am I by meself, wid not a sowl to say a wurrud to and I thought I'd take a puff or two to relave the silence."

"The regulations are explicit, sir," rebuked the admiral, "and the silence does not excuse you. What's your name, sir?"

"And who may ye be anyway?" asked the Irishman.

"I'm Admiral Miller, sir."

"Ah, 'tis the new admiral ye are. 'Tis the fat job ye have, admiral. Be careful to kape it. Me name's Pat McGinnis."

"Report at my office this afternoon without fail, McGinnis," said Miller, who could hardly keep from laughing. At 5 o'clock poor Patrick, who had made up his mind sure would be the devil to pay, tramped over to headquarters, and the orderly ushered him into the dreaded presence of the admiral, who said:

"Sit down, Pat."

Pat sat down. Miller touched a bell. The orderly appeared.

"Bring a bottle of champagne and two glasses," he said.

Not a word was spoken until the wine arrived. The admiral filled the two glasses and pushed one over toward the Irishman.

"Pat," he said, "give me the pipe. You'll not need it again."

The mystified laborer obeyed.

"Now," said the admiral, "drink hearty, Pat, but you'll keep your job as long as I keep mine."

Nor is this the first situation saved by Irish wit.—San Francisco Wave.

STIFLING INQUIRY.

Obstacles Zola Has to Deal With In His Trial.

WITNESSES REFUSE TO TESTIFY.

Authorities Seemingly Afraid of Revelations.

Paris, Feb. 8.—The trial of Novelist Zola for denouncing the Esterhazy court-martial, in connection with the Dreyfus case, was begun Monday. The advocate general said it was imperative to prevent the proceedings from wandering and "thus playing into the hands of the accused, whose aim is to get a revision of the Dreyfus affair by a circuitous route."

After reading the names of the witnesses summoned, Judge Delegorgue read a number of letters of excuse, including a letter from the minister of justice, announcing that the minister for war, General Billot, had not received the authority of the cabinet to testify. He also read a letter from ex-President Casimir-Perir saying he could not testify except as to facts subsequent to his presidency.

Colonel Paty du Clam was called, but he refused to testify. Attorney Laborie urged the importance of his testimony, adding, that unless the court ordered the witness to testify, he might be compelled to demand an adjournment until the next sessions. Counsel also said he was not prepared to oppose a secret trial if it was absolutely necessary. But, continued Mr. Laborie, the allegation that the matter they were discussing was connected with state secrets and the national defense was a mere joke.

The advocate general thereupon protested against the national defense being called a joke, to which Mr Laborie coolly replied that he would permit no one, not even the advocate general, to cast suspicion upon his patriotism.

The court ordered a short adjournment in order to allow Laborie to draft his argument. On the resumption of the hearing Mr. Laborie made a speech demanding that the witness be ordered to testify. He also deposited with the court written applications requesting the court to order the subpœnaed witnesses to appear. Regarding Colonel Clam, the application charges him with illegal acts in the Dreyfus and Esterhazy affairs claiming that if these acts were proved in court the good faith of the accused would be demonstrated. Mr. Laborie vehemently protested against the absence of the subpœnaed witnesses and, referring to the non-appearance of General Mercier, he said: "When he was minister of war, he submitted to the judges of Dreyfus, behind the back of the prisoner and his counsel, a secret document which, however, he said was unimportant. If this document, as he declared, was unimportant, then the incident is ended and there is no further need for General Mercier's testimony while, if the alleged secret document did not exist let General Mercier come and tell the court so, and our side will be well satisfied."

This attempt to draw the former minister of war into the witness stand caused much commotion in court, which was increased when, on several members of the Dreyfus court-martial refusing to testify, Mr Zola rose in the dock and indignantly cried: "We must know if these persons are acting under the orders of the minister of war, or on their own volition."

General Boisdeffre claimed exemption on the ground of professional secrecy whereupon Mr Laborie shouted: "One would really think all these officers imagined they form a separate caste above all rights, and that they are totally exempt from the laws and the respect due to justice."

Mr. Laborie, in his application for a subpœna for Mme. Boulancy, says: "The appellants have ascertained that Count Esterhazy has thrice written her, menacing her with death should she surrender the documents, with the result that Mme Boulancy has left her home and concealed her new address. As the aforementioned documents have a direct bearing on the present case, the appellants ask also that an officer of the court be sent to impound all telegrams and letters from Count Esterhazy in the possession of Mme. Boulancy."

Zola, who was quite calm, asked the barristers: What is the maximum penalty to which I am liable?" On being told that it was six months, he rejoined, smiling: "If truth could but emerge from this trial I would willingly take six months more."

The proceedings at the present stage are a struggle between Mr Laborie and Advocate General Van Cassel the latter being determined to restrict the scope of the trial and the former to enlarge it. There is no doubt that the visible efforts of the government to suppress enquiry by its refusal to allow General Billot, minister of war, and other important witnesses to testify, came as a great surprise to the audience. Mr Laborie created quite a sensation by exclaiming ironically "What a passion for light there is on the part of the prosecution." There was some murmuring in court when letters of excuse were read from General Mercier and others, and there was a flutter of excitement when Laborie insisted upon the attendance of the aristocratic Blanche De Comminges, who pretends that illness prevents her from testifying. Her name was mixed up in the unsavory story of blackmail connected with Du Clam and the mysterious "veiled lady." Mr Laborie contended that Du Clam's evidence was the key of the whole story and that the jury must make its own reflections upon the persistent refusal to allow him to testify. The advocate general but his lip, but remained silent. Altogether the decision of the court as to whether the witnesses shall be compelled to attend is awaited with supreme interest.

Zola last night seemed buoyant, even enthusiastic, and spoke hopefully of the day's proceedings. He praised the moderation and courtesy of the president of the court. He said he believed he had already had produced some effect on the public mind, adding that the day's record was better than he had ventured to hope. "I am convinced," he said, "that outside feeling is growing rapidly in favor of a full inquiry. It is too much to expect that all the truth will come to light at the present hearing; but I believe we shall see a little. Once the French people can be made to see a duty, they will do it at whatever cost. I am well content with the day's work."

SURE CURE FOR EPILEPSY.

Just Read What Dr. Greene's Nervura Did in This Case.

Fits and St. Vitus' Dance Also Yield to Its Magic Power.

It Is the Only Sure Cure for These Nervous Troubles.

Any physician will tell you that the medicine which will cure Epilepsy, Hysteria, Fits and St. Vitus' Dance and nervous attacks, is truly a wonderful remedy.

Dr. Greene's Nervura will cure them.

It is, at the present day, the only recognized remedy for these nervous complaints, it is the only medicine which will surely cure them.

Parents, therefore, whose children manifest any symptoms of such impending nervous disorders, like nervousness, irritability, moodiness, irregular appetite, headaches, dizziness, disturbed sleep, restlessness, loss of memory and interest in things, face pale, feet cold, fidgeting with fingers, twitching of eyelids, face, limbs, shoulders, or jerking of head, should at once give this specific cure, Dr. Greene's Nervura. It is perfectly harmless, being made from pure vegetable remedies, wonderful in their health restoring powers.

Remember that Dr. Greene's Nervura will prevent, as well as cure, these diseases. Therefore give it at once when the first slight symptoms occur.

Mr. Herbert E. Harrington, Box 274, Adams, Mass., says:

"Our little boy Royal had fits. He would drop to the floor, sometimes forward, sometimes backwards, as if he was dead, and if he was eating, his head would drop on to his plate, so we had to hold up his head all the time he was eating. If he went across the floor someone had to lead him, and the slime would run from his mouth. His stomach was so weak that his food would not digest, and every muscle of his body would twitch so it was impossible for him to do anything.

"For two years we took him to our local doctors and they could do nothing to help him, and they advised us to take him to a specialist. We did so and he told us that he had epilepsy and was incurable. He lost his speech for six weeks and continued having the fits so he would have nine or ten in a night. We saw Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy advertised in the paper, so got a bottle and gave it to Royal as directed, and in three days the fits left him and we have not seen any of them since. Now he goes to school and seems to be as healthy as anyone can be."

Dr. Greene, 34 Temple Place, Boston, Mass., can be consulted absolutely free in regard to any case, personally or by letter.

TRIAL OF DEPUTIES.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Feb. 8.—Nothing especially new was elicited at yesterday's session of the trial of the deputies accused of killing the strikers at Lattimer. Thomas Hall clerk of the Valley hotel in Hazelton, testified that on the Sunday following the shooting Deputy John Turner was in the hotel talking to some friends, and he said. "We all marched out to Lattimer, and as the strikers came up I heard a shot. It seemed to come from the ranks of the strikers, and then we opened up. I shot nine of them and killed five."

Christopher Brehen, a miner, said he was at West Hazleton when the strikers arrived, and that he talked with Bornheiser, one of the deputies, who wanted him to join the deputies. Bornheiser said: "Everyone of those —— strikers ought to be shot."

"They have as good a right to strike as anybody," the witness replied, "and I would not stop them."

"You're a —— coward," Bornheiser said, "or else you would get a gun and go out with us to shoot them."

"If you want to shoot them, all right," the witness said, and then Bornheiser went away.

A few days before the shooting the witness had a talk with a deputy named Dodson, who said: "We ought to get so much a head for shooting down these strikers. I would do it for a cent a head to make money at it."

The last witness was John Costello who said he was helping a wounded man when Deputy A. E. Hess approached him. He was about to detail the conversation which ensued and by which the commonwealth hoped to prove malice on the part of the deputy when the defense objected. During the argument the jury was dismissed, and at its conclusion the court adjourned.

LUMBER AFFECTED.

Washington, Feb. 8.—American lumber is now the subject of discrimination at the hands of the Prussian government, according to the report of the United States consul at Bremen, Mr. Keenan. The consul transmits the complaints of a number of dealers against what they regard as discriminating charges against the carriage of American pitch-pine levied by the Prussian railway. It is said that American pitch-pine is allowed to go at the lower rate if the officials do not know where it originates. The trade is considerable, and this Prussian railroad is the only means by which the wood can be taken into the interior, so the discrimination is keenly felt, says the consul.

CHARGED WITH CONTEMPT.

Independence, Ky., Feb. 8.—Seven members of the Covington, Ky., council, the city clerk and Attorney Henry Hallam, were held to be in contempt of court by Judge Tarvin and placed in the custody of the sheriff with the alternative of purging themselves of contempt, or being committed to jail. The trouble arose over the refusal of the council, on the advice of its attorney, to obey an order by the judge to provide necessary furniture for the courthouse in Covington.

THE MAJOR'S VISIT.

HOW A GENTLEMANLY CAPITALIST STIRRED A PENNSYLVANIA TOWN.

He Was Unobtrusive, but Had an Air About Him That Won Respect and Attention—When He Went Away, There Was Disappointment.

Late one spring evening in the middle seventies a stranger alighted from a passenger train that had just drawn up to the station of a Pennsylvania mountain town. He was at once beset by half a dozen negro hotel runners, the most enterprising of whom took possession of his hand satchel before he had time to assent or dissent. Because he was pleased with the negro's push or because he fancied the name of the hotel this porter represented the stranger gave the man the check for his trunk and put himself under his guidance.

At the hotel the stranger registered his name in a plain, businesslike hand as "Major John H." of Philadelphia. He made his toilet, ate his supper, and, lighting a cigar, went out, as he remarked, for a stroll about the town. Upon his return an hour or so later he entered into conversation with the landlord. Major H. appeared to take an interest in the banks of the town, of which he said he had noticed there were a larger number. He inquired as to their condition, and seemed pleased to hear that they were all regarded as strong institutions, all under safe, conservative management. His interest, he hinted, was owing to the probability that he would in the near future have occasion to deposit in one of them a large sum of money.

Becoming more communicative, the major said he had heard that the morning paper of the town—a paper of repute and influence—was for sale, in settlement of an estate, and that he was strongly disposed to buy it.

The next morning all the town knew of the presence of the rich gentleman from Philadelphia, who was going to buy the ——, and he was the object of much respectful curiosity when he appeared on the streets. In him the curious saw a man above the medium stature and beyond middle age, who dressed plainly, but with great neatness, and who, in the face, bore a resemblance to General Grant, a resemblance which was not lessened by the fact that the major always had a cigar in his mouth.

The first place the major visited the morning after his arrival was the office of the newspaper that was for sale. He was received there with much consideration, and spent some hours inspecting the plant and carefully going over the books. He expressed satisfaction with what he had seen and learned, and intimated his willingness to pay a certain sum in cash for the property—a sum rather larger than the management hoped to receive, though not, of course, as large as that asked.

From the newspaper office the major was escorted to a neighboring bank, where his reception by the president was most cordial and flattering. Seeing in the newcomer a prospective customer and a man destined to be of much influence in the community, this wide awake bank officer not only took great pleasure in making him acquainted with the really excellent condition of the bank, but insisted on driving him out that afternoon to see the natural beauties of the region, which seemed to charm the major. That night nothing would do but that the major should dine with him.

The next day other prominent men of the town, who did not propose to permit the bank president to monopolize the major, sought him out, with the result that before noon he was engaged to drive out behind first horses every afternoon, and to dine as the guest of honor every evening for a week. The major drove out, and the major dined. His quiet and unostentatious manner and his intelligent, conservative conversation won for him golden opinions, and in a short time the town was mad over the major. Meanwhile he would drop into the newspaper office every morning, where he was already looked upon as the new proprietor, and spread happiness about him by pleasant words of commendation.

Finally one morning the major announced that he had definitely decided to buy the paper and ordered a lawyer to draw up the legal documents and have them ready on a specified day the following week. He said that he would have to leave the town for a few days to arrange the transfer of the money needed for the purchase and that he would return the day before that fixed for the transfer.

The major then dropped in to see his friend the bank president, and gladdened his heart by announcing an intention of opening a personal account with the bank. He handed over his check for $15,000, drawn on a prominent Philadelphia bank, and after chatting a few minutes arose as if to go, remarking that he had a business call to Pittsburg, for which city he would start in the morning. The bank president solicitously inquired whether he had sufficient funds with him for the journey, and the major said he thought he had, but he would see. After an inspection of his wallet the major said that perhaps it would be prudent to replenish it, and that he would take $500 if his friend didn't mind. So he gave his check, received the money with a careless matter of course manner, shook hands with the bank president and strolled off to his hotel. The next morning the major quitted the town, taking with him many expressions of good will and of hopes for a speedy return. He has not been seen there or heard of by any of its inhabitants since.

The bank president was the first to learn that the major was a swindler, and his information came from the Philadelphia bank. He, being a sensitive man and not caring to have his name bandied about in ridicule on the common tongue, said nothing then or till long after about the $500. The lawyer and the people in the newspaper office were ready on the appointed day, but the paper was not sold that day.

There was, of course, gossip in the little town over the failure of the major to come back, and at first a disposition to inquire of the prominent gentlemen who had driven him out and dined him what had become of him. But the replies of those gentlemen were so ambiguous that no one derived any satisfaction from them, much less any information.

The newspaper, which had at hand a "beat" on the entire press of the country, passed the major's disappearance by in silence, and in time he became forgotten.—New York Times.

Gems and Color.

Among the maladies common to all gems of color is one which arises from exposure to the light for a long period. They lose color. The colors of the emerald, sapphire and ruby are as nearly permanent as possible, but experiments made a few years ago in Berlin and Paris showed these stones suffered by exposure to the light, and a ruby shown two years in a shop window was many shades lighter than its mate which had been kept in darkness.

GREETING TO BLANCO.

Havana, Feb. 8.—According to information from Spanish sources, General Blanco, when he arrived at Nuevitas, was received with great enthusiasm, special committees and ladies with flowers going by special train to meet him. At Puerto Principe he had a magnificent reception, the whole populace shouting "Long live peace and autonomy," while the ladies threw flowers from the balconies. Three triumphal arches bore inscriptions, such as "To the messenger of peace."

HOSIERY MILL CLOSED.

Laconia, N. H., Feb. 8.—The Winthrop hosiery mill, known in the past as the Halifax mill, started up yesterday as previously announced, but closed last night owing to a telegram received announcing the death of Hiram Leonard of Boston, the senior member of the firm of Leonard & Clark, proprietors of the mill. It is now uncertain when business will be resumed, and it is feared that the mill will not be operated again until Leonard's estate is settled.

COURT-MARTIAL ORDERED.

New York, Feb. 8.—A Washington special to The Press says that naval circles are in a fever of gossip over the discovery that an order has been issued for the court-martial of Luther G. The Family Table.

Confucius many years ago advised his disciples thus: "Eat at your own table as you would eat at the table of a king." There are many reasons for the observance of some formality at the daily board. How otherwise are the children in the family to learn the correct usages of good society in this respect? To allow a child to demand and obtain his roast while the other members of the family are taking their soup is to create in him an impatience of restraint and to deprive him of the due appreciation of things done decently and in order. No matter how simple the dinner, it is well to have it in courses and with the accompaniments of careful serving and dainty table appointments. The house furnishers show as attractive patterns in the cheaper as the more expensive ware. It takes only a little seeking to furnish the table with dishes of dainty design. Says a sensible writer, "A meal served on the bias is not an aid to digestion."

Resolution Accepting the Cession of Hawaiian Islands.

MEMORABLE BATTLE RECALLED.

Mr. Chandler Offers Admiral Worden's Memorial.

Washington, Feb. 8.—An amendment of more than ordinary importance and significance at this time was proposed in the senate Monday by Mr. Morgan of Alabama, to the resolution offered a few days ago by Mr. White of California. Mr. White's resolution declared that it was the right of the people of Hawaii to maintain their own form of government and the United States ought in no wise to interfere with it. Mr. Morgan's amendment, which provides distinctly for the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands, reads: "That the republic of Hawaii, established in and based upon its present constitution, is a rightful government, and has been and still is recognized as such by the United States of America and by other great powers without any question by any nation of its rightful and sovereign independence; and said constitution is the true and recognized authority that fixes the measure and the distribution of the rights and powers of government in that republic, while said constitution remains in force.

SENATOR CHANDLER.

"That in conformity with the existing constitution of the republic of Hawaii and so long as the same is in force, the powers of government reside in and are to be exercised by the incumbents of the departments, tribunals and officers created by said constitution and filled in pursuance of law, and the lawful electors under said constitution who qualify as such by taking the oath of allegiance prescribed therein are entitled to share in the government of Hawaii according to the rights secured to them in said constitution and to the extent and in the manner therein provided so long as the same is in force.

"And said government of the republic of Hawaii having, in due form, signified its consent in the manner provided in its constitution that the Hawaiian islands with all the territory appurtenant thereto, over which said government now claims to exercise sovereign jurisdiction, shall be annexed to and become a part of the territory of the United States of America and shall be subject to the national power and sovereign jurisdiction thereof, it is hereby enacted and declared that said cession is accepted, ratified and confirmed, and that said Hawaiian islands are annexed as a part of the territory of the United States of America and are subject to the sovereign dominion thereof."

Mr. Davis of Minnesota, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, moved that the resolution of Mr. White and the amendment thereto proposed by Mr. Morgan be referred to the foreign relations committee, and after a brief colloquy between Mr. White and Mr. Morgan, the resolution and amendment were so referred.

A resolution offered by Mr. Hoar of Massachusetts, providing that on the 22nd inst. (Washington's birthday), immediately after the morning business Mr. Lodge read Washington's farewell address, was adopted.

Mr. Chandler presented a memorial that was prepared in 1874 by Admiral Worden, who, as a lieutenant in the navy, commanded the Monitor in the historic fight in Hampton roads between that vessel and the ironclad Merrimac, and advocated the payment of $200 each to the officers and crew as prize money. He asked that the memorial be referred to the naval affairs committee, his idea being that the committee and the secretary of the navy should evolve some plan whereby suitable recognition by the government could be made of the great services rendered this country by Admiral Worden.

Senator Teller occupied the entire four hours of the executive session in discussing the Hawaiian annexation treaty. He said that he should have been glad to discuss the treaty in open session, and that the time had almost come when the question of annexation should be debated upon looking to legislation by both houses of congress rather than upon the basis of the treaty, to which he was favorable.

LOWER BRANCH.

Members Take Varying Views on the Question of Prosperity.

Washington, Feb. 8.—In the house yesterday Mr. Greene (Pop., Neb.) made some observations on the much mooted subject of returning prosperity. He read a dispatch from Wheeling, W. Va., giving an account of the alleged tearing down of McKinley's picture by workingmen. "Gentlemen might cry 'Prosperity, Prosperity,' " said he, "but there is no prosperity."

"And others howl 'Calamity, Calamity,' " cried Mr. Perkins (Rep., Ia.) amid shouts of laughter from the Republicans.

Mr. Olmstead (Rep., Pa.), in reply to Mr. Greene, produced clippings from newspapers in all parts of the country showing a great revival of business and trade. He said that the continued agitation of the silver question was the only thing that detarded the full measure of prosperity that would naturally flow from the Dingley law. The threat contained in the Teller resolution had driven $40,000,000 to investment in foreign securities.

"Do we want a cowardly money that runs away?" asked Mr. Bland (Dem., Mo.).

"Money is always timid," replied Mr. Olmstead. "It goes to places where it is safest and the security is best."

"You don't hear of silver running away," reiterated Mr. Bland.

"No," interposed Mr. Landis (Rep., Ind.); "you don't hear of silver running away from Mexico."

"Mexico is prosperous," shouted a voice on the Democratic side.

Mr. Landis continued: "You don't hear of silver money running away from China."

Mr. Ogden (Dem., La.): "Are you a Chinaman or an American?"

Mr. Miers (Dem., Ind.) and Mr. De Armond (Dem., Mo.) both denounced the action of the house on the Teller bond resolution. The whole purpose of the Republican party in the defeat of that resolution, Mr. DeArmond declared, was to commit the country irretrievably to the gold standard. It had at last thrown off all subterfuges and shams, and now had the shameless effrontery to boldly proclaim the robbery which it always secretly connived at, but never before had the hardihood to avow.

Mr. Low (Rep., N. Y.) said it was no marvel that the Democrats were howling down the evidences of prosperity which confronted them on all sides. When a Democrat was brought face to face with prosperity he shook like an aspen leaf.

Mr. Perkins (Rep., Ia.) said that in the matter of wheat and wool the high prices prevailing had been charged to blind chance. It was said that the Republican party was the party of good luck. If that were true it followed that there must be a party of bad luck. For himself he preferred to affiliate himself with the party which was identified in the present and the future, with the prosperity and happiness of the people.

GERMAN DISCRIMINATION.

Washington, Feb. 8.—Ambassador White has confirmed the reports of the modification of the decree of the German government relative to the importage into Germany of American fresh fruits. It is said that there is now nothing to do on our part but to watch the workings of the decree as a means of testing the spirit in which it was conceived—whether it was framed with the single purpose of keeping out diseased fruit, or whether it was a mere pretext to prevent competition of our fruit with German productions. That the department has reason to suspect the latter is evidenced from the report that comes to it from United States Consul Barnes at Cologne, in which the consul points out gross discrimination by the local officials against American hams.

In Germany pork is cured by the "wet process," which requires the following ingredients in the preparation: 30 percent of boracic acid, 30 percent of nitrate of potash and 30 percent of common salt. It thus appears that the court of correction permits the use of a limited quantity of boracic acid by the German people in the curing of their meats while it condemns and forbids the use of the same article in the meats coming from America. It seems well nigh impossible to overcome the deep seated prejudice of the German people against American meat products.

SENTIMENT WITH THE MOB.

Washington, Feb. 8.—The attorney general has sent to the senate a letter written by Assistant United States Attorney McMecham giving the results of his investigation into the recent burning of two Seminole Indians in Oklahoma by a mob. Mr. McMecham says that the sentiment in the neighborhood of the crime is all with the mob, and he was informed that it would not be well for him or any person to go into that locality if it were known that the object was to locate the conspirators.

Mr. McMecham's letter tells in the main an old story, but he gives some new details. McGisy was, he says, the first of the Indians to move a muscle after the torch was applied, and he did not move until the flesh was beginning to drop from his limbs and the flames were beginning to touch his ears. He then gave a loud whoop and bent over as far as the chain would allow him, and, sucking in the leaping flame, sank down and expired without showing any more signs of pain. Mr. McMecham says that a Baptist minister prayed for the two Indians before their execution, and that as he knelt in prayer he held a rifle in his hand.

A CURRENCY BILL.

Washington, Feb. 8.—The Republican members of the house committee on banking and currency, having secured views on all propositions, will take up the question of formulating a bill expressive of the views of the Republican members of the committee and embodying such propositions as a majority of the Republican members may agree upon, the purpose being first to secure agreement among the Republican members and then have united action before the full committee. By this means it is hoped to command nine votes which are requisite in the full committee in order to report a bill.

ON A CHARGE OF MURDER.

Salem, Mass., Feb. 8.—The trial of Alfred G. Williams for the murder of John Gulle was begun yesterday in the superior criminal court, Judges Dunbar and Braley presiding. Attorney General Knowlton, with District Attorney Alden P. White and Assistant District Attorney Sumner D. York, appeared for the government, while the prisoner is represented by C. A. Seyward and N. H. Jones. Williams is charged with having murdered Gulle in a shanty which he occupied for the purpose of obtaining money which he knew was in Gulle's posession. It is also charged that after this Williams set fire to the shanty to destroy the evidence against him.

The entire forenoon was occupied in impanelling a jury, and before the 12 men had been selected, 58 men had been examined. Mr. White was unable to finished his address, so it was decided to give the jury a view of the scene of the crime in the afternoon.

SPANISH VICTORIES.

Havana, Feb. 8.—According to information from Spanish sources, a column of troops engaged with an insurgent force in the province of Santa Clara. After inflicting some loss on the enemy the Spaniards later became engaged with 600 infantry and 60 cavalrymen, who occupied an intrenched position. They dislodged the insurgents, who retreated with a loss of 27 men killed and leaving one wounded prisoner, a quantity of ammunition and medicine, 28 firearms, one dynamite gun, two boxes of dynamite cartridges and a number of important documents. The loss of the Spaniards is pronounced to be insignificant.

General Luque reports that while reconnoitering at Melones, province of Santiago de Cuba, he killed six insurgents in a skirmish in which his troops had nine wounded.

MURDER IN BROOKLYN

Frightful Crime of an Insanely Jealous Woman.

STEPDAUGHTER'S SKULL OPENED.

Assaulted the Father and Then Sought Death.

New York, Feb. 8.—Insane jealousy on the part of a stepmother led to the killing of her 17-year-old stepdaughter and the attempt to take her own life and that of her husband in a fashionable locality of Brooklyn last night.

The scene of the tragedy was the residence of William W. Place at 598 Hancock street. Mr. Place, who is 47 years of age, is an insurance adjuster. His family consisted of his wife, Martha, 37 years old, and a daughter by his first wife, Ida M. Place, aged 17. Mr. Place returned home from business about 6 o'clock last evening, and upon opening the front door was confronted by his wife in the dimly lighted hallway. The woman appeared to be in a frenzied condition and was armed with a small ax.

Without warning and before Mr. Place could recover from his astonishment, Mrs. Place dealt him a terrific blow with the weapon on the forehead, and another which inflicted a terrible gash in his left cheek. Mrs. Place then fled to her room, locked the door and turned on two jets. Place secured help and the door was broken open. Mrs. Place was found in an unconscious condition. The door to the back room on the same floor, which was found to be locked, was broken open. Here on the bed was found the daughter. Her head had been split open with the ax, and there was also an ugly wound on the [illegible]. The girl had been dead about [illegible] hours.

Mrs. Place, though seriously injured, will probably survive. Mr. Place is already out of danger. The [illegible] preference for his daughter [illegible] said to have caused frequent [illegible] between the husband and wife. Neither Mr. Place nor his wife was in a condition to be interviewed or to make a statement. Mrs. Place is under arrest.

DANGER NOT REAL.

Madrid, Feb. 8.—In an article headed "The American Danger," The Epoca reviews the situation and draws the conclusion that though delicate it is by no means alarming. It argues that America, in order to engage in a war with Spain over the Cuban question, would have to depart from all her traditions, customs and habits, and take on the role of a fin de siecle European power. Recalling that Mr. Cleveland fixed, more or less explicitly, two years as the period of non-intervention, the article points out that the war has already lasted three years without American intervention, and that consequently, in the eyes of Europe and of the whole world, the opportunity has finally passed for the interference of the United States.

Moreover The Epoca thinks that the amour propre of America will be satisfied by the grant of autonomy, for, much as Spaniards may lament it, it was undoubtedly the pressure put upon Spain by the United States that induced the Spanish government to go so far on the path of concession. The article concludes by foreseeing the possibility of fresh alarms being started from various motives, but urges the public to keep calm, as there is no real danger of a rupture.

IN HONOR OF JOAN OF ARC.

Paris, Feb. 8.—The movement in favor of a national festival in honor of Joan of Arc continues with unabated vigor through France. Hundreds of petitions are yearly presented to parliament from French women requesting the definite institution of the festival already voted by the senate in 1894. Mr. De Mahy has just deposited in the chamber of deputies his report upon the case. It breathes throughout a spirit of the purest patriotism. Speaking of the perseverance of his countrymen, he says: "No nobler reply can be made to the charge that we are a nation wanting in steadfastness." In the name of the commission over which he presided, De Mahy recommends the festival "as the supreme homage of the nation to the bravest, the noblest, the most glorious, heroic and devoted child of our race who paid with her martyrdom for the salvation of our land."

VOTED AN ANNUITY.

Boston, Feb. 8.—Mayor Quincy took official notice of the tragic death of the six firemen last Saturday in a message to the board of aldermen yesterday afternoon, accompanied with a recommendation that an annuity be paid to the relatives. An order was subsequently adopted by the board authorizing the fire commissioner to pay, by way of annuity, a sum not exceeding $200 annually out of the appropriation for the fire department to the widow of any member of the fire department killed in the discharge of his duty Feb. 5, so long as she remains unmarried, or, if such member left no widow, to any child or children under the age of 16 years left by such member, so long as he or they continue under the age of 16 years. The private subscription fund for the benefit of the families of the dead firemen has already reached nearly $12,000.

A bill to amend the navigation laws restricts shipment from one port in the United States to another port in the United States either directly or via a foreign port to vessels of the United States; regulates the transshipment of merchandise imported by sea for immediate exportation to a foreign port, and provides for reports from masters of vessels arriving from foreign territory adjacent to the United States.

LOVERING'S AMENDMENT.

Larger Possibility of Its Enactment Than of Most Proposals.

Washington, Feb. 8.—Representative Lovering's amendment to the constitution, to give congress the power to regulate the hours of labor in the states, stands a larger chance of adoption than most proposals of the kind. If the labor union element of the country once becomes aroused on this subject, as it is quite easy to see how it might, it would be entirely possible to secure a two-thirds vote in both houses of congress. That, at least, is the prevailing opinion here.

The contest would then come in getting a majority in the legislatures of three-fourths of the states, but as there is an aggressive labor organization with considerable power in every part of the country, it is entirely within the reach of possibility that the amendment would go through as the first addition made to the constitution of the United States, except as a war measure, for nearly a century.

GENERAL COURT.

Boston, Feb. 8.—The senate and house had short sessions yesterday. In the upper branch the chaplain dwelt in his prayer on the death of the firemen.

Representative Miller offered an order for an investigation of gas companies doing business in Boston.

The committee on cities made a very quick report on the bill introduced the other day to the effect that the superintendent of streets in Lawrence be elected by the people. It was recommended for passage yesterday.

The house passed a bill the other day by which advertisements of committee hearings may be advertised in only two Suffolk county papers. When the bill got to the upper branch yesterday Senator Dallinger made a fruitless effort to have it so amended that each advertisement might appear in three Boston papers. Its rejection was effected by a vote of 20 to 6, and then the bill was passed with other amendments which restrict the advertising of each hearing to two times and compel the advertisement to be set in solid nonpareil or similar type, without display.

ESCAPED BY LADDERS.

Pawtucket, R. I., Feb. 7.—A fire in the picker-room of the No. 4 mill of the Lonsdale company at Lonsdale came near proving fatal to a number of women in the weaving room. As the only means of escape was through the picker-room, which was completely filled with smoke, all the women had to make their way to the ground by means of ladders. The loss will amount to about $1000.

NOTICED THIS BEFORE.

You Probably Have, and May Have Spoken About It.

The reader of this newspaper, if he takes the time and trouble to look carefully through its columns, will probably find half a dozen statements, tacked on to the foot of reading notices about medicinal preparations. Note this fact. In each and every case as far as Portsmouth is concerned, he might just as well live in the moon. Make another note of this. The only remedy on the market which gives testimony at home, local proof in every town and city in the Union, to back up its claims, is Doan's Kidney Pills. They all try it, but they cannot do it. Why they are unable to do it can safely be left with the reader to draw his own conclusions. Here is Portsmouth proof for Portsmouth readers:

Mr. Arlon A. Ballou, of 31 Maplewood avenue, says: "I had something wrong with my kidneys for eight months, and the pain and annoyance kept increasing in place of diminishing. I got so bad I could not attend to my ordinary occupation, and had to knock off. In my back and over my kidneys there was a constant pain and any ordinary movement caused sharp twinges to shoot through my loin. During these attacks when my back was particularly bad I had a urinary weakness that was very embarrassing and inconvenient. I thought Doan's Kidney Pills might help me and I got a box at Philbrick's Pharmacy, on Congress street. I did not take more than the half of it before I was freed from the whole kidney trouble. I feel no trace of it now and I can attribute all the change to Doan's Kidney Pills."

Doan's Kidney Pills for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

THE MYSTERY DEEPENS.

Life Savers Visit Portion of a Wrecked Coaster.

Nothing Visible by Means of Which Name Could be Determined.

Yesterday morning patrolman William Randall of the Wallis Sands Life Saving Crew sighted what appeared to be the wreck of a small coasting vessel about three quarters of a mile southeast of the station, in what is known as Great Cove.

Captain Wells was notified of the fact and was soon on the way out in the life boat Drawing alongside he found it to be the stern of a small two-masted schooner of about thirty tons register.

A thorough examination failed to disclose anything by which the name of the schooner could be identified but she is no doubt one of the unknown craft that went down along this coast in last week's terrible storm.

The patrolmen have picked up along the shore lots of wreckage in the past few days, although as yet no bodies have been cast up by the waves. Among some of the wreckage was found a child's night dress, a pair of trousers, a lady's wrapper and a pair of stockings besides numerous other articles of wearing apparel

Captain Wells says there is no doubt but what one or even two small coasters were lost not a great way from this coast and all on board drowned.

It is expected any day that the body of some unfortunate sailor will be washed ashore, when by some marks on his clothes or letters in the pockets, the name of his vessel can be found and the mystery solved.

Another Delightful Concert

Eastman's orchestra rendered the third in their series of delightful subscription concerts last evening and a well pleased audience left Peirce hall at its close.

The program was as follows;

1 Overture to Opera "Die Zauberflote' Mozart
2 Cavatine, "Chefaroseuza Euridice' from opera "Orpheus" Gluck
Miss Dickey.
3 Selection from opera "Robert le Diable" Meyerbeer
4 "How Ruby Played" Bagley
Mr. Dennett.
INTERMISSION.
5 Mignon's Song from opera Mignon Thomas
Miss Dickey
6 Grand Concert Waltz "Fruhlingstimmen" Straus
7 Clarinet solo "Fantasia" Mohr
Mr. St Clair.
8 "Darius Green" J. T. Trowbridge
Mr Dennett
9 Hungarian Dances No's 1 & 2 Brahms

The playing of the orchestra is too well known to need any flattering criticism.

Miss Sadie Dickey, the vocal soloist was at her best and her rich contralto voice reached the hearts of all.

The humorist, Mr. Dennett, was very funny and kept the audience in rare good humor.

The instrumental solos of Mr. St. Clair were warmly encored.

Box 78

Considerable excitement was created at 1 35 o'clock this afternoon by the ringing of an alarm of fire from box 78, situated at the corner of Spinney's road and Islington street, as this is the box that calls out the entire department. The fire horses were scattered over the city and one of the slowest responds since the advent of the quick hitch was the result.

It was all caused by a slight blaze in the house occupied by the family of the late Joseph Freeman at the upper end of Islington street. They had been fumigating the house and in some manner an old sofa had caught fire, but it was quickly extinguished by a pail of water The damage was less than ten dollars.

Found a Bank Book

Theodore Givings, a young school boy, picked up a bank book belonging to Harry J Freeman in front of Exchange block this forenoon and took the same to the police station where Assistant Marshal West took charge of it. Theodore is a bright little chap and Mr. Freeman was much pleased at the boy's honesty in immediately placing the book in safe hands.

Storm Delayed Vessels Arriving

It is only a question of a short time when the dock room will have to be increased.

MENTALLY UNBALANCED

Crazy Acting Stranger Still Detained at Police Headquarters

Will Myrick, the young man who is detained at the police station for being a little out of his mind, is still a mystery and puzzle to the police department, although a slight clew to where he belongs was wormed out of him last night.

Captain Hilton of the night watch talked with him for some little time last evening and after long questioning managed to find out that his home is in Herman, a small town way down in Maine. He says he has a step-father there named Nelson Henry and to him Marshal Entwistle sent a telegram this forenoon, telling him of the young man's condition.

As the town of Herman is seven miles from the nearest telegraph office it may be some days before an answer can be obtained. Myrick also told Captain Hilton that he had been to work in a big planing mill in West Upton, Mass., where he was employed pressing shavings. He claims to owe a month's board bill in that town, having left without settling up. City physician F. S. Towle examined the young man this morning and found that while he was not violent he was suffering from some mental delusion.

Marshal Entwistle is doing everything in his power to find out the whereabouts of the unfortunate young man's parents or folks, and is awaiting with much interest the outcome of his telegram to Herman

The Diadem Floated

Captain Hoyt of tug Howell succeeded yesterday in pulling the schooner off the flats at Clark's island where she has been ashore since last Tuesday. The little schooner is none the worse for her enforced stay on the flats and the captain reported that she was not leaking a drop. She has a general cargo consigned to Boothbay Harbor from Boston and will proceed at once for her destination.

Captain Hoyt made several attempts at floating her but she was stuck in mud so deep that several hawsers were snapped before she was finally pulled off into deep water. At one time during the trial the rail of the schooner was several feet under water but the steady pull of the tug soon told and in another minute she moved slowly off into deeper water and righted up.

MEET IN PRIVATE

Board of Aldermen Discuss the Electric Road Situation

James A Emery, a well known Boston electrical engineer appeared before the mayor and aldermen last evening to give the members of the board an idea as to just what constitutes a first class electric road. He went over the proposed route yesterday with Mayor Emery and he will submit a statement with specifications for the construction of a first class road here.

This is the second meeting the aldermen have had to talk over the matter in private and at both meetings the members declared themselves in favor of the road.

Civil Engineer Emery is one of the best known men in his line and has been connected with a large number of electric road enterprises. The meeting last evening consumed three hours and it is evident that the aldermen are determined to understand the subject. It will be proper to state that the civil engineer is no connection of Mayor Emery.

Operation Avoided

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Jan. 27, 1898.—Mrs. Charles Bearse, the wife of a well known carpenter and prominent Odd Fellow in this city, residing at 24 Union street, has had a narrow escape from a painful surgical operation. Some time since an abscess appeared in the corner of her left eye. It increased and discharged and physicians thought an operation would be necessary. Mrs. Bearse decided to try the well known medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after taking seven bottles the abscess was gone and only a slight scar remained.

Hard Sleighing

Sleighing at this time is anything but a pleasure, as the road is so full of cradle holes. The present condition of the roads ought to make the sleigh business good for next season, for it is a tough sleigh that can stand the strain of much work over the present travelling.
